

Mae Fah Luang University Regulations

On gown, academic gown, and academic pin of Mae Fah Luang University, 2003

.....

According to Section 17 and Section 55 of the Mae Fah Luang University Act of 1998 with the resolutions passed by the University Council, the announcement of Mae Fah Luang University 2003 regarding regulations on gown, academic gown, and academic pin is as follows:

No. 1 This announcement is called “Mae Fah Luang University regulation on gown, academic gown and academic pin of Mae Fah Luang University as of 2003.”

No. 2 In this announcement,

“President” refers to the President of Mae Fah Luang University;

“the University Council” refers to the Mae FahLuang University Council;

“President of the University Council” refers to the President of the Mae Fah Luang University Council;

“the University Council Committee” refers to the Committee of Mae Fah Luang University Council;

“the Executives” refers to the executives of Mae Fah Luang University;

“Instructors” refers to the instructors of Mae Fah Luang University.

No. 3 This regulation has been effective since the date of issue in the government gazette.

No. 4 The President is the person who is acting on this announcement.

No. 5 All qualities, types, classifications and elements of gowns, academic gowns, and academic pins of the university should comply with this regulation and the attachment as indicated in the template.

Part 1

Gown

No. 6 The university gown for instructors and executives is made of red satin clover and is knee length. The gown is open and has a 10 centimeter wide black stripe hem embellished with a 1 centimeter wide golden Tung pattern as indicated in the attachment. The golden stripe is stitched along the outer edges. Additionally, one line of the 1 centimeter wide golden stripe is stitched to the inner edges. The space between these outer and inner stripes is 2 centimeters. The edge of the gown is a 10 centimeter wide black cloth, with a 1 centimeter wide golden stripe on both sides across the edge. The shirt is wrist length, and the sleeve has a wide opening. The upper part and the lower part is a 10 centimeter wide black cloth with golden stripes on both sides with a 3 centimeter golden stripe in the middle. Golden university pins with red enamel on the letter “S” are placed on both stripes at the breast level.

No. 7 The gown for the President shares the same characteristics of the gown for instructors and the executives. The upper part of the arms is made of 4 1-centimeter wide gold cloth lines. At the edge of the arm sleeve is a 10-centimeters wide black cloth, with 4 aligned 1-centimeter wide gold stripes. University pins with red enamel on the letter “S” are placed on both stripes at the breast level. There are two red rayon strips on both shoulders.

No. 8 The gown for the President of the University Council shares the same characteristics of the President’s. There is a breast chain; the university symbol in gold is placed in the circle frame and is embellished with the university symbol with red enamel on the letter “S”. There are two gold rayon strips on both shoulders.

No. 9 The gown for the University Council Committee shares the same characteristics as the as the President’s but without the breast chain or red strips on the shoulders.

Part 2

Academic Gown

No. 10 There are 3 variations of the Academic Gown

- (1) Undergraduate gowns are made of red clover and must be knee length. The gown is open with black stripes and embellished with a 10-centimeter wide golden Tung pattern. The 1-centimeter wide gold stripes are stitched in the front on both sides. The edges have 10-centimeter wide black stripes with a 1-centimeter wide gold border on both sides. The arm sleeves are wrist length with a wide opening. The upper stripes have a 10-centimeter wide black cloth with 1 centimeter wide gold borders on both sides. There is a 1-centimeter wide school band in between the gold borders. The edge has a 10-centimeter wide black cloth with 1-centimeter wide gold borders on both sides. In the middle, there is a 3-centimeter wide gold stripe with academic pins at the breast level on both sides.

- (2) Gowns for graduate students share the same characteristics as undergraduates', but there is a 1-centimeter wide school band on the upper arms.
- (3) Gowns for doctorate students share the same characteristics as the graduates', but there are 3 1-centimeter wide school bands at the upper arms.

Part 3

Academic Pin

No. 11 The academic pin is 6 centimeters and made from gold steel. It represents the university symbol for auspicious ceremonies on the right chest.

Announced on February 28, 2003.

Signed Pol-Gen Pow Sarasin
(Pow Sarasin)

Chairman, Mae Fah Luang University Council